Preface of the book

President Kennedy's assassination was the most traumatic event the United States of America ever experienced. It also was the most dangerous one not only for world peace but for the continuation of life on this planet. Had the circumstances and the background of this horrible deed been disclosed to the public a nuclear war would have been the very probable consequence.

President Kennedy averted a nuclear war when he decided not to invade Cuba. His death very easily could have provoked the situation he had worked so hard to avoid. Others had to make sure this would not happen. These others remained silent for all these years. The secret was kept and this ensured that there was no nuclear confrontation between the superpowers of that time.

Times have changed dramatically. The Soviet Union is no more. Russia has become an affiliated member of Nato. The threat of a nuclear confrontation between two great nations has been diffused. Yet the secret of the circumstances of President Kennedy's death still have not been revealed.

Three men were confronted with the most horrendous scenario any high government official could ever imagine: a conspiracy to kill the President and what to do about it. Edgar J. Hoover discovered the plot; Lyndon B Johnson had to make the ultimate decision, and Robert Kennedy had carry out the decisions made.

These three men had the courage and the wisdom to make the right decision. They had the will and the strength of character to follow through. They succeeded where success was the only option if life was to continue. But not all's well when success exacts a high price. The three men paid a very high price of their own for this success.

The decision to participate in the conspiracy to kill the President and to cover up the circumstances of this terrible event was not easy. For these three men this was the beginning of a nightmare, which would haunt them for the rest of their lives. Even in their lives after life their tormented souls could not find rest because for them the issue could be resolved only in one way: to reveal the truth.

Good Evening

I am the spiritual entity of Robert Kennedy, also known as Bobby

Several days ago you had a communication with the spiritual entity of Lyndon B. Johnson. At long last he was able to talk about the traumatic events of his presidency and, thus, get rid of the unwanted memories of a very unhappy time. Today it is my turn to overcome the shadows of the past, which still are weighing on me like a long drawn nightmare.

Practically nothing is known about my role in the dramatic events that lead to my brother's death. As one of the leading men of the Kennedy family I also was one of the leading men of the Serpent Clan. Johnson explained the connections between the early times and the present. So I'll skip this part and just concentrate on the events leading up to my brother's death and the time thereafter.

My brother Jack won the Presidency at the time when the cold war was ready to turn into a hot war any moment. His foremost desire was to not let this happen. In his mind again and again he saw the images of a city destroyed in a nuclear war. He saw terrible death and he saw the unspeakable suffering of the survivors who were off worse yet.

Jack made me Attorney General, a most influential post in his administration. But I was much more to him; I was his most trusted adviser and he needed sound advice more than often and in practically every respect. From early childhood on we both complemented each other exceptionally well. He was the dashing lead man; I was the cautious second man who made sure that the lead man's lead would be backed by sound and thorough action. Jack knew that and relied heavily on my advice and support.

Jack's ascend to power was not easy. Being a New Englander and a Catholic was a big handicap. He overcame that with the help of a very unlikely alliance with the foremost entertainer of that time, Frank Sinatra. Frank and Jack got to be close friends. Frank just loved the company of this most promising politician from one of the richest and most influential families of the country. Jack took advantage of Frank's connections in show business and with the mob. They both were ladies' men and they had many pleasurable moments together.

With Frank's help Jack got the crucial support of the mob controlled labor unions and won the primaries. Then he teamed up with Lyndon B. Johnson, the man who was supposed to bring the crucial Southern votes, which he did. It was a very close victory but that did not matter. What mattered was the fact that the right man was President of the United States at the time when it mattered.

Nixon was a formidable opponent but he could not succeed against a force stronger than anyone else in the universe: God the Almighty. These elections had to bring Jack into the White House because with Jack as President the Cuban Missile Crises could be resolved without war, a nuclear war at that. In the Republican Party the hawks were so powerful that a military conflict with Cuba and, thereby, with the Soviet Union could not have been avoided. Only after we changed over in our lives after life we got to know how strongly God the Almighty had been involved in the outcome of the elections and in the events of the Cuban Missile Crises.

Jack managed to end the Cuban Missile Crises without a military confrontation with the Soviet Union. With this he avoided a nuclear war and possibly the extinction of mankind. But he was to pay a very high price for that because Chroushchov, then First Secretary of the Communist Party and leader of the Soviet Union, felt deeply humiliated. He vowed revenge and nothing short of Jack's death would do.....

Frank Sinatra, complete text

Destiny makes strange bedfellows. The Performer Frank Sinatra, the President Jack Kennedy and the mobster Sam Giancano literally were just that. Judith Campbell was the link between the beds of these "fellows".

Frank Sinatra is world famous as a singer. Nobody knew about his political career, not even Sinatra himself. Sinatra's role for the presidential election of Jack Kennedy was of crucial importance. The votes from the unions, which were under control of his gangster buddies, decided the outcome. This put the right man at the right place at the right time.

As President of the United States Jack Kennedy resolved the Cuban Missile Crises peacefully and avoided a nuclear war, which would have brought the end of life on this planet. Without Frank Sinatra Jack Kennedy would not have been President at this time. Sinatra deserves credit for his part in keeping the Cold War cold.

Good evening to you.

This is the spiritual entity of Frank Sinatra

You just saw parts of this movie "The Rat Pack". You know so much about the backgrounds of events of global importance that you realized that I played a major role not only as a singer but also, as strange as this might sound, on the political scene.

To explain this statement needs some time. Please be patient.

The big event for my political sideshow was the election of John F. Kennedy as President of the United States of America. He was the one predestined to guarantee the continuation of life on this planet.

The presidential race was preceded by the race for the nomination by the Democratic Party. Kennedy did not have a good start. Being a Catholic and a New Englander was a towering handicap. It was one thing to run for a senate seat in Massachusetts; it was something totally different to seek the nomination of the Democratic Party for the race for President of the United States. Regional, racial and religious prejudices were strongly opposed against a rich Playboy from New England.

I first heard Jack Kennedy giving a speech in 1956. I was more than impressed. I was overwhelmed by emotions of admiration and instant friendship towards this young promising politician. Then I thought he was this good. Now I know that already then I was influenced telepathically in favor of John F. Kennedy who would need my help to become elected President of the United States.

The forces of destiny had planned my carriers as performer and political supporter of John F. Kennedy in a most effective way. I spent my childhood in an Italian neighborhood that spawned some of the most important gangsters in this country.

I grew up with them and lifelong friendships and loyalties proved to be crucial for the election of Jack Kennedy for President. – There is power of all sorts in this country. The power of my former gangster friends was truly awesome through the labor unions they dominated.

The dictate of the labor bosses easily overcame religious, racial and regional obstacles. Critical States were won and Hubert Humphrey withdrew from the race for the democratic nomination. Now John F. Kennedy was in for the biggest fight in his political career: to keep the Presidency away from a man who had everything going for him, Richard Nixon.

Nixon was the shrewdest politician the American political scene had seen in a long time. An ambitious, hard-working man, firmly entrenched in the Washington political establishment; he was a formidable opponent Nixon's victory was practically certain.

I was obsessed with the idea to have Jack Kennedy as the next President of the United States of America. Jack and I had become friends, good friends I thought. We had good times together and his wife Jackie did not like how good they were. It hurt my Ego and my sincere feelings of friendship towards Jack Kennedy that I was banned from his personal circle of family and friends. But Jackie Bouvier was a force to reckon with and even Jack Kennedy would not dare to challenge her in matters she considered important.

The race for the Presidency of the United States of America was very tough. Nixon's nickname "Tricky Dick" told the story. Nonetheless, Nixon made some crucial mistakes I then did not understand. How could a man as intelligent as Nixon give such a poor performance during the debates? Instead of attacking Jack Kennedy all the way, Nixon was trying to give a civilized performance, which was definitely not his forte. How could Nixon alienate some of his most important supporters with one-sided political statements? How could a seasoned politician of Nixon's caliber run a race I considered quite weak? – Now I know that Nixon and his advisers were subjected to telepathic inspirations that worked very much against his campaign.

I worked very hard to give Jack Kennedy's campaign the added momentum it needed. I promoted his cause with my gangster friends, giving them hopes that a man would be in the White House lenient towards their cause because of the bootlegger background of his family and also because of the support they gave him during the campaign. - The unions endorsed Jack Kennedy and this gave him a much-needed additional momentum with other groups representing poorer Americans whose turn out at the votes would be crucial for the outcome of the elections.

I worked hard performing at fundraisers and exacting contributions for Kennedy's campaign from the people I knew had money to spend. – The efforts paid off. Jack Kennedy was elected President of the United States of America with the slimmest margin of votes but he was elected.

I was happy and relieved. I did not quite understand my feelings. Why did I take this so personal? There was no advantage I could have from this election other than having a friend in the White House. – Now I know that I felt the emotions of the invisible forces who had guided me telepathically. They knew about the immense significance the outcome of these elections had for the continued existence of mankind. I felt their joy and relief.

Thinking back I realize that my very own situation started to take a turn for the worse as soon as Jack Kennedy had become President. I did not understand it then and for quite a while I did not realize that the President of the United States does have limitations as to what he can do. One thing he could not do was to socialize with a close associate of gangsters, namely myself.

Actually, Jack was quite careless in many ways. With this I mean not only his incessant womanizing. He did not withdraw from me. It was Bobby Kennedy who turned out to be the voice of reason. He made Jack realize that being President of the United States meant that he could not do what he wished, he had to do what the dignity of his office demanded.

This brought me into a very difficult situation with my gangster friends. They had lent me their support assuming that I would have enough influence with the President to make things easier for them. I had recruited for a lot of money, I must say, Judy Campbell as the link between President Jack Kennedy and Sam Giancano, the mobster. She slept with both of them, truly an untenable situation when it was discovered by J. Edgar Hoover, then head of the FBI and a bitter enemy of the Kennedy Presidency.

Hoover made sure brother Bobby got to know of Judy Campbell's role as a double timing sex partner for the President and the mobster. The moment Bobby got to know of this, things took a further turn for the worse. He insisted Jack reconsidered his relationship with me. While before Jack's wife Jackie had been the reason that I was banned from the private circle of the Kennedys, now political considerations demanded that the President kept distance from me. He cancelled his Florida stay in the place I had been preparing for him with pride and so much joy. – I was shattered but there was much worse to come!

Brother Bobby had become Attorney General. He used his position to take on the very people who had actually brought his brother Jack into the White House. I don't know how many votes my performances and my public support for the Kennedy campaign had brought. I take pride in saying probably hundreds of thousands. The support from the part of the unions dominated by my gangster friends for sure brought millions of votes. Instead of having a friend in the highest of places, the gangsters now had an enemy determined to go after them with everything he got – and that was a lot. Bobby Kennedy targeted gangsters and was very successful bringing them to justice. – I was in real trouble. My pleas to stop this campaign against crime in this obvious and public way fell on deaf ears. Bobby convinced his brother that cleansing the American scene from the mobsters was the right thing to do. It also was very dangerous. - I was lucky to get out of this situation alive.

To target a gangster for crimes committed was something the crime bosses were used to. Once in a while one of them would be caught and sent to prison. But Robert Kennedy, the Attorney General, targeted the entire gangster establishment. That was asking for serious trouble and he got it for himself and also for his brother Jack Kennedy, the President.

There was very serious trouble brewing on another front: Chroushchov, the Soviet leader, had sent nuclear missiles to Cuba. Jack Kennedy had the fate of this world in his hands and he did the right thing. He decided against the hawks in his own ranks and, thus, saved the world from a nuclear disaster. This was the great task the forces of destiny needed him in the White House for. All the time during this crisis Jack Kennedy was influenced telepathically. Images of the devastation nuclear weapons would bring over this planet were transmitted to him incessantly. The consequences of a wrong decision were made extremely clear to him.

The Soviets had to back down and Jack Kennedy had another very powerful and irate enemy: Chroushchov. - Another implacable enemy was Fidel Castro. The memory of the invasion at the Bay of Pigs was a constant reminder for Castro that this American President was out to get him. He also got to know that Jack and Bobby Kennedy had established a task force with the goal to have him assassinated. This task force was implemented inside the CIA and associated with American mobsters who had ties to Cuba from the times they were operating the casinos on this island. The CIA plan was to use these gangsters for this operation because they knew their way around Cuba.

It was Chroushchov who decided to have Jack Kennedy assassinated. Top KGB officials told Fidel Castro to mount this operation against the American President and he very happily proceeded with the execution of the plan. Castro's secret service had found out about the plot to assassinate him. The gangsters' loyalty was only to money. Moreover, the top crime bosses had gotten extremely nervous about Bobby Kennedy's campaign against them.

- Thanks for chasing the cat away. This constant meowing really got on my nerves.

Anyway, all the pieces of the puzzle fell in place. The very organization Jack and Bobby Kennedy had created to assassinate Castro turned against Jack. From Cuba the American mobsters got assurances that there was a very powerful protection for the project of the President's assassination and, very eagerly, they started to prepare for the murder of the President of the United States of America.

Someone else will provide information about the conspiracy and the parties involved not only in the assassination but also in the cover up that ensued. So I'll just say that Jack Kennedy was doomed as soon as this project got under way. The American mobsters hired 3 professional killers from the French Island of Corsica to make sure no trace would lead to them should the killers be captured.

President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas. He died a hero whose role in saving life on this planet from extinction will be remembered in the history of the universe to come. My role won't be recognized in this world. In the history of the coming positive universe, however, the role of the performer Frances Al Sinatra will be known and celebrated as the one providing the crucial and decisive contribution to have Jack Kennedy in the right place at the right time.

I could tell a lot more. But this communication was difficult and cost you a lot of energy. You are tired and, therefore, I'll call it a day, or rather a night since it has gotten to be very late.

Thanks for writing this down. I know you are preparing to publish the texts of your contacts with spirits and this is fine with me. - We'll talk again.

Message for Larry King

7-16-2000

Good Evening,

The members of the Kennedy Clan who are in the Waiting Position for the Departure to the Positive Dimension wish to thank you for watching the History Channel as well as the Larry King Show. We wish to explain the nature of the curse alleged in the History Channel, which actually is a spiritual pattern, established a long time ago in the world before. - Please forward this message to Larry King.

Hi, Larry,

It is commonly believed that the gods and deities of ancient mythologies originated from some need of humans to invent superior beings. Nothing could be further from the truth. Approximately 5,800 years ago a race of extraterrestrials calling themselves the gods invaded this planet. The gods did not know states. They were organized in family clans and each of them had an animal as clan symbol.

The Serpent Clan landed in Egypt.

The Bull Clan landed in Crete.

The Tiger Clan landed in India.

The Dragon Clan landed in Japan.

The Eagle Clan landed in Mindanao and journeyed across the Pacific Ocean to Peru.

It would be a very long story to explain even superficially what happened afterwards. For our purpose of explaining the "curse" of the Kennedys it will suffice to give you the following explanation:

Towards the end of the world before the Serpent Clan had defeated all of the other Clans and it also had invaded Atlantis. The leader and supreme ruler of the Serpent Clan was Amun. As such he was the most powerful and also the richest man on this planet.

The Egyptian invader gods had created pantheons of deities - these were clones of the gods - for the various genetic code groups of humans and one of these was the Teutonic Pantheon. Freya was a female member of this Teutonic Pantheon. Amun liked rough sex but for Freya it was too rough and she killed him. This established spiritual patterns, which were to influence the history of this world up to present times.

The present world was created on basis of the genetic code of a Maya woman, a human. Therefore, when the worlds changed only humans could and can live in the new dimension. The spiritual entities of the gods and deities were much too large to fit in human bodies. Therefore, except for the ones in space ships they all perished in the course of the natural disasters caused by the change of dimensions. Their spiritual entities split and tiny particles of these huge "god or deity" entities - they are called sub-entities - are incarnated in human bodies. The spiritual patterns these sub-entities are bearing determine the fates of the people that carry them.

Amun was the most powerful man on Earth and his sub-entities carry the pattern of highest power but they also carry the pattern of being destroyed by a woman. Therefore, every time a sub-entity of Amun rose or was about to rise to highest power or status of celebrity and encountered and bonded with a sub-entity of Freya this Amun sub-entity experienced violent death within several years.

John F. Kennedy's fate was sealed when he married Jacqueline Bouvier Likewise his son's fate was sealed when he married Carolyn Besset. Bobby Kennedy as brother of John F. Kennedy was spiritually close enough to Jacqueline Bouvier to get killed when he aspired to become the most powerful man in the world. Teddy Kennedy survived even though the pattern also extended to him and did indeed threaten his life, because he decided not to run for the Presidency of the United States.

The oldest of the brothers, Joe, was the first one to be hit by the "curse" because he was destined by his father to become President and only death kept him from actually becoming President of the United States of America. After he had met a Freya sub-entity the pattern of death had been activated.

There is much more to be told but for the purpose of this spiritual work the above will suffice.

This spiritually valid announcement has terminated the effectiveness of the spiritual patterns established in the world before not only for the members of the Kennedy Clan but for all other sub-entities of Amun. The "curse" has been lifted.

This address needs to be sent to Larry King because he is the most successful man in this world's media and, therefore, represents the media spiritually. It has been written with the permission and the help of God the Almighty. Thank you for your patience.
